ALLIED AGAINST JAPAN.

Germany, Russia and France Will Demand Moderation

IN THE CONQUERORS' DEMANDS.

Japan Will Not be Permitted to Bind Herself Around China in a Solid Circle in Order to be Able to Shut Her Off from Europe.

LONDON, April 22.—A dispatch to the Times from Berlin says that the North German Gazette (semi-official) publishes an article of similar import to that contained in the Cologne Gazette Saturday afternoon.

The Cologne Gazette on Saturday said that in view of the pressure being exercised by the war party in Japan Germany, at the beginning of March, enjoined the Japanese government to be moderate in the terms demanded for peace, urging that the cession of territory upon the main land of China would be especially calculated to induce the intervention of the powers. When it was shown by the published terms of peace that Japan was not disposed to follow Germany's advice steps were immediately taken to establish an accord with the powers, and a complete agreement has been reached with Russia and France. The three powers, Germany, Russia and France, will now take steps to protect their interests in eastern Asia.

The question of territorial changes will be first kept in view, against Japan's desire to bind herself like a solid circle around China in order to be able to shut off China entirely from Europe. In case of need the three powers mentioned intend to avert in good time any injury to their interests. It was added, however, that Germany would be glad to see Japan enjoy the fruits of her military prowess on condition that it does not injure German interests.

A Denial from Japan.

YOKOHAMA, April 22.—The government has issued a statement denying that it has concluded an offensive and defensive alliance with China, and declaring that the commercial advantages secured by Japan under the terms of the treaty will be enjoyed by the other powers under the "most favored nation" treatment.

The Treaty of Peace Ratified.

YOKOHAMA, April 22.—A dispatch from Hiroshima, the temporary headquarters of the emperor of Japan, states that his majesty ratified the treaty of peace on Saturday.

A Workman Sawed in Two.

PITTSBURGH, April 22.—Sawed in two by a circular saw was the horrible fate of Thomas Burns, a sawmill employee at Tolly Covey. In stepping from a log carriage he slipped and fell in front of the saw, which cut him through diagonally, the trunk being held together by a few shreds of flesh.

ANOTHER BANK THEFT.

The Shoe and Leather National Bank Again Victimized.

CONFESSED TO STEALING $20,000.

Samuel E. Aymer, a Brother-in-law of Seely, Who Is Now Doing Time for Robbing the Same Bank, Arrested on His Own Acknowledgment.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Samuel E. Aymer, the defaulting clerk of the Shoe and Leather National Bank, was arraigned in the Tombs police court before Justice Voorhis yesterday and remanded to police headquarters until this afternoon, when he will again be arraigned in court.

Aymer was accompanied to court by Lawyer Frank W. Angel. Mr. Angel was also counsel for Samuel C. Seely, a brother-in-law of Mr. Aymer, who also robbed the Shoe and Leather bank of a large sum of money.

Mr. Aymer was visibly excited when he was arraigned, and the perspiration ran down his face in little streams. Mr. Angel asked Justice Voorhis to have the prisoner committed to Ludlow street jail instead of to police headquarters, contending that the justice had the power of a United States commissioner under the circumstances, and that the prisoner was a United States prisoner. Justice Voorhis refused to grant the request.

None of the bank officials were in court, but Secretary Thompson, of the company which was on the prisoner's bond while he was a clerk in the bank, was present, but took no part in the proceedings.

Mr. Angel said the bank officials had broken faith with him. He said that on last Monday Aymer came to him of his own free will, and told him that he had robbed the bank of $20,000. Aymer, said the lawyer, was for going at once to United States Commissioner Shields and giving himself up.

"I advised him not to do so, but that I would go to the bank officials and tell them about it. I went and saw President John M. Crane and told him what Aymer had told me. I also saw Vice President Bittner. They assured me that they would not cause the arrest of Aymer immediately, but would look into the matter. In stead of doing this President Crane went immediately and secured a warrant, and had Aymer arrested without letting me know a thing about it. I suppose that they thought that Aymer would run away, and that the bond would have to be forfeited."

When asked if he thought there had been any collusion between Aymer and his brother-in-law, Seely, Mr. Angel said: "I am positive that Seely did not know one thing about the thefts of Aymer, and when he hears about it he will be as surprised as anybody."

Mr. Angel then added: "Now it remains to be seen whether they can prove that Aymer is guilty or not."

Aymer was taken back to police headquarters in the custody of the two detectives. He asked that his son be allowed to see him while he was locked up in police headquarters.

Price Says He Was Hypnotized.

BALTIMORE, April 22.—The question of hypnotic influence will play a prominent part in the coming trial at Denton of Marshall E. Price, under indictment for the murder of Sallie Dean, a 13-year-old school-girl. Dr. John Morris, a noted expert on insanity diseases, has examined the prisoner, and declares his confidence that the state will be unable to show any motive for the crime. Dr. Morris is convinced that Price honestly believes he was influenced by some mind stronger than his own.

Fatally Burned While Playing Indian.

HAVERHILL, Mass., April 22.—The 5-year-old daughter of E. W. Hall, of River-side, was horribly burned in her father's doorway. She, with several other little playmates, were playing "Indians," and she was selected as a victim to be burned at the stake. She was bound to a pole set in the ground, inflammable material piled about her and set on fire. Dr. Jewell was passing by in his carriage and rescued the child, but not before her clothes were nearly consumed. It is feared she will die.

Rescued Sailors Arrive.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—The American liner Southwick, Captain Passow, arrived at this port with six shipwrecked mariners, who were picked up in mid-ocean. They are Captain Edward Moore, of the Nova Scotia schooner Glendola, Chief Mate David Lougher, Second Mate James Gready, Cook John E. Kelly and Seamen James Wilson and L. Wilson. Off the Delaware capes, the Glendola was abandoned in a sinking condition.

Besieged Britons Relieved.

SIMLA, April 22.—Major General Sir Robert Low, commanding the Chitral relief force, telegraphs that the Chitral fort has been relieved. It is not known yet whether it was Colonel Kelly's or General Low's advance column that effected the relief. Sher Afzal, who at one time was de facto ruler of Chitral whose recent capture of the capital led to the dispatch of the British expedition, is said to have absconded.

Thurston Coldly Received.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Minister Thurston received a very frigid welcome upon arrival in Hawaii from Washington on the 18th inst. Even his friends accuse him of bringing the government into disgrace at Washington at the most critical moment of the existence of the so called republic of Hawaii.

An Asylum for Umra Khan.

LONDON, April 22.—A dispatch to the Times from the British camp near Barwa says it is reported that the ameer of Afghanistan has granted asylum to Umra Khan, the invader of Chitral, and has given him two villages near Asmar.

Cuban Rebels Are Anarchists.

MADRID, April 22.—A committee of the chamber of deputies has decided that the same penalties shall apply to the Cuban rebels as are applicable to anarchists.

GENERAL M'COOK RETIRED.

The Last of the Famous Fighting McCooks Goes Into Private Life.

DENVER, April 22.—After serving continuously in the service of the United States for a period of forty-three years, Major General Alexander McDowell McCook, retired from the army today, a step made necessary by the law, the limit of age, 64 years, having been reached. General McCook will leave Denver this week for Dayton, O., where he will remain until May. He will then go to Washington and New York, reach the latter June 1, to be present at the graduation of his daughter. Later in the summer the general will sail for Europe with his family, where he will remain several months. With the retirement of General McCook, the last of the fighting McCooks goes into private life, and for the first time in nearly half a century the army will be without a McCook on its active rolls. It is a most noteworthy fact that General McCook, father of General M'Cook who retired today, and the sons were all in the field, fighting for their country at one time, and that four of them attained the rank of general.

GENERAL M'COOK.

MRS. PARNELL'S CONDITION.

It Is Doubtful Whether the Old Lady Will Survive the Shock.

BORDENTOWN, N.J., April 22.—Mrs. Parnell seemed brighter yesterday morning, but as the day advanced she grew weaker. She recognized Dr. Shipp and shook hands with Mrs. Casey and a daughter of former John Casey when they called. It is doubtful, however, whether she will survive the shock of the assault. At the request of Mrs. Knoud, of New York, who is at the aged lady's bedside, Rev. Elvin S. Taylor, rector of Christ church, of Bordentown, made a visit in the afternoon.

Nothing has yet developed to throw any light upon the case, although the detectives are still at work. The theory that the crime was committed by tramps is not believed. George R. Cavanaugh, who was arrested with another tramp named Patrick Ragen on Saturday night, on the Ironsides property, was released yesterday after Justice Steel had questioned them concerning the affair. Ragen was subsequently re-arrested and sent to the Burlington county jail for twenty days as a vagrant.

Policemen Hartman, Pippitt and Michals surprised a camp of nine tramps yesterday afternoon on the outskirts of the city and locked them up in the city jail pending an examination.

Ex-Consul Walter in France.

MASSILLON, April 22.—John L. Waller, formerly American consul at Tmatave, who was brought to this port on the steamer Djennah, after having been tried by a French court martial and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment on the charge of having been a spy in the interest of the Houas, was taken from the steamer by the police and lodged in jail, after having been registered as a prisoner. Ambassador Eustis, the representative of the United States at Paris, is investigating Mr. Waller's sentence. It is claimed that his trial by a court martial is contrary to international law.

Non-Unionists Driven from Ohio.

POMEROY, O., April 22.—The mining troubles at Minersville have again broken out with increased intensity. Thirteen of the twenty-three non-union men driven away two weeks ago by the strikers last week returned to work Saturday night 100 strikers, armed with clubs, called to drive them away. All but one escaped to hiding places. He is a stranger, known as "No. 11," and was nearly drowned in a water trough. He was given five minutes to leave town or be drowned in the river. He left on a run. Some non-union miners are now secreted in the hills and others are in hiding in West Virginia.

The Savings of Years Stolen.

PATERSON, N.J., April 22.—Two tramps walked up to the house of Thomas Smith, a section foreman on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, near Signe, four miles west of here. One of them engaged Mrs. Smith in conversation after begging for some food. His companion disappeared. Mrs. Smith gave the tramp some food. Meanwhile his companion had stolen into the house and escaped with $2,000, Mr. Smith's savings for thirteen years.

Died from His Injuries.

LANCASTER, Pa., April 22.—Thomas Masterson, an aged and well known citizen, died yesterday from the effects of injuries received by being struck by a train at Columbia several weeks ago. At that time his injuries were not thought to be serious. Mr. Masterson had been identified with various enterprises in the city and county.

DR. BUCHANAN'S DOOM.

Warden Sage Informs the Condemned Man That He Must Abandon Hope.

SING SING, N. Y., April 22.—Warden Sage at noon yesterday sent out the twenty-seven invitations to the witnesses who are to be present at the execution of Dr. Buchanan. The exact date of the execution has not yet been made public. Yesterday Warden Sage received the official notification from Governor Morton that he had refused to interfere in the case, and he went at once to the cell of the condemned man and said: "Buchanan, I am sorry to tell you that Governor Morton has refused to interfere in your case."

Buchanan flushed, but without displaying emotion replied simply: "Well, warden, will you telegraph to my wife and Lawyer Gibbons that I want to see them at once."

Buchanan's wife was latter in the day admitted to the death house, and remained with him two hours. She left on the 5:30 train for New York city, first stating that she would go to Albany this morning to intercede personally with the governor in behalf of her husband.

Buchanan's first wife proved faithless, and he secured a divorce from her. Then he married the keeper of a house of ill fame in Newark, N. J., and lived in affluence on her money. She made a will in his favor, and soon afterward died. Some time after Buchanan was arrested for poisoning the woman. Meantime he had remarried his first wife. His trial resulted in a verdict of guilty and his sentence to death.

A BRUTAL MARYLAND NEGRO.

Only the Determined Attitude of His Captors Saved Him from Lynching.

FREDERICK, Md., April 22.—Mrs. Thomas Butts, a highly respected farmer's wife, living at Broad Run, fifteen miles from Frederick, was brutally assaulted yesterday by Frank Winterchief, a burly 18-year-old negro, who works on the farm of J. Columbus O'Donnell, near Petersville. Although he failed to accomplish his purpose, Mrs. Butts was most splendidly dealt with. She attended early mass at St. Mary's Catholic church, four miles from her home, and was returning when the negro overtook her on the road, and, armed with a club, seized her, threw her to the ground and dragged her towards the bushes.

She screamed for help and by superhuman efforts threw off her assailant and sprang to her feet. Three times he threw her to the ground. In the struggle he jammed his finger up her nostrils, tore her clothing and scratched and bruised her flesh. Frightened before accomplishing his purpose, he sprang up and fled. Notwithstanding the fierce struggle between the brute and his victim Mrs. Butts still retained possession of her prayer book and beads in her hands.

Peter Hemp and David Majaha, who heard the screams, saw the negro running and started in hot pursuit. The route lay towards the mountains. After a chase of four miles, and after firing two shots at him, the negro halted and surrendered. In the meantime Mrs. Butts had made her way to a farm house. On their return with the negro his captors were escorted by a mob, who demanded the surrender of the man that they might take him in the woods and hang him. Hemp and Majaha refused to give him up at the point of their drawn revolvers, and escaped from the mob and brought Winterchief safely to Frederick.

Workmen Terribly Burned.

Rube Smith was one of the boldest desperados of modern times. He was charged with the murder of five men, and it was the popular impression that his hands were stained with the blood of many more.

A RIPPER IN NEW YORK.

WHITECHAPEL CRIMES RECALLED.

Found Bleeding in a Hallway and Removed to a Hospital, Where the Physicians Are Unable to Stop the Flow of Blood—Her Murderer Not Yet Captured.

NEW YORK, April 22.—A murder was brought to light in Bellevue hospital yesterday afternoon, which is suggestive in some of its details of the Whitechapel crimes in London that made "Jack the Ripper" notorious. The victim is a woman of the lowest class. Her name was Alice Walsh, and she was well known in the resorts in the neighborhood of Blooming and Thompson streets. When the autopsy was performed on her body it was discovered that certain mutilations had been made which distinguished the Whitechapel murders, although not of so serious a character. Up to a late hour the murderer had not been arrested, but one man who is thought to have had some knowledge of the matter was held on suspicion.

The circumstances of the killing of Alice Walsh are peculiar in almost every respect. Early yesterday morning a woman was found in the hallway of 113 Thompson street, half unconscious and bleeding. The attention of the patrolman was called to her shortly after he went on post. The first man to find her was Vincenzo Ster, an Italian bootblack who lives in the same tenement. He found her as he was passing down stairs on his way to work. At that time she was leaning on the railing of the stairs in a half dazed state. Ster thought she was drunk, and informed the patrolman, who repaired to the spot. By the time he arrived the woman had fallen to the floor. Near her feet was a large pool of blood. The woman was conveyed to St. Vincent's hospital and inquiries instituted at the tenement. No one who was there knew the name of the woman, but the night clerk of a restaurant readily identified her as Alice Walsh.

At the hospital the case was looked upon as in no way serious, and the police reported the case as that of a homeless woman who was suffering from alcoholism and sickness. Alcoholic cases are not usually treated in St. Vincent's hospital, and she was transferred to Bellevue.

Every effort of the physicians to stop the flow of blood proved futile, and the patient expired at 11:15, having been in the institution less than four hours. During that period she showed no signs of returning consciousness, and died without indicating in any way how she met with the circumstances that resulted in her death.

In the course of the afternoon Dr. Philip O. Haulon, corner's physician, made a post mortem examination of the body and discovered the real cause of death. He found that the woman was bruised and black and blue in almost every part of her body. He found also that she had been brutally mutilated with a knife or dagger, and that the wounds thus resulting had started the hemorrhage which had terminated fatally. The wounds were for the most part internal, and not superficial, at least those that had been made by the knife or dagger.

It seems impossible that she was thus mutilated in the hallway where she was discovered by the Italian bootblack, and the police assert that she did not come to her injuries in any room in the tenement above. It is surmised that the man who killed her is an Italian stranger in whose company she was seen in Garland's saloon on West Houston street.

Philip Mewley, the night clerk who identified the woman, is being held until further investigation is made.

Murdered with a Hatchet.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—Angelito Barbo, an Italian woman, aged 33 years, was almost instantly killed last night by a blow from a hatchet in the hands of Donato Manna, aged 34. The murder occurred in an alley at the rear of 701 Christian street. A feud had long existed between Manna and the woman and her husband, Antonio Barbo. Mrs. Barbo and Manna met last night, and she accused Manna of having slandered her. Hot words followed, and, seizing a hatchet, the woman struck Manna on the head and wrist. He started to run away, but was pursued by the two Barbos and caught. A fierce struggle occurred, and Manna, wrestling the hatchet from the hands of the woman, struck her on the forehead, crushing in the skull. Manna's death is momentarily expected by the physicians at the Pennsylvania hospital.

An Aged Woman Caught.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., April 22.—The police have arrested Charles Gifford charged with uttering a forged order and with forgery. The police believe that Gifford is the man who has been all along the coast from Philadelphia north, passing forged checks. Gifford's method is to claim that he is a schooner captain, and he offers the checks in payment for supplies. He is wanted in Norwich, New Haven and Philadelphia.

ALONG THE DELAWARE.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN EASTERN WAYNE COUNTY, PA.

Empty Hay Mows—Serious Accident—The Highest Freshet Ever Known—A Poor Maple Sugar Season—The Folks of the Caw—False Report of the Finding of Clyde Mitchell's Body.

Correspondence ARMS AND MERCURY.

—There is a good chance for the sunlight to shine through a great many barns in this section. The long cold winter has been a heavy drain upon the hay mows and likewise the purses of the farmer as not a few of them have been compelled to replenish their stock of fodder and feed.

—James L. Brigham met with an accident on Saturday, the 13th inst., that may prove fatal. He was walking upon a pile of toggle timber that was stacked on the bank of the Delaware at the Cochection bridge, when the stakes gave way and let the whole mass of timber rush downward into the river carrying him with it. For a time he kept on top of the rolling mass, but soon was buried under the rolling sticks and carried by them out into the icy waters and held there a prisoner until rescued by those near at hand. He was badly bruised and injured internally, and several ribs are broken, and it is thought that the ball is broken from the end of the femur, where it articulates with the hip joint. Mr. Brigham's age is greatly against his recovery from so serious injuries. He was removed to an adjoining house where he is being cared for as his injuries were too painful to remove him to his home, a distance of four miles.

—Those who have made it a point to keep a record of the height of the water in the river, say that the flood of April, 1895, was eighteen inches above all preceding ones.

—Maple sugar makers will not get rich this spring. There was not sufficient frost in the ground to keep the sap running. Besides, dishonest makers who adulterate what they make are ruining the business. Those who know what the genuine article is can never fool their palate into being content with an amalgamation of common sugar and maple.

—Few Orange county drovers have made an appearance here this spring. Farmers are keeping more cows, and are selling milk instead of butter or cream.

—About two years ago, John Hogenkamp, who lived in the neighborhood of Duck Harbor, Damascus township, rented his farm to Oliver B. Young and went to one of the western counties to peel bark. Subsequently, when he visited his former home he found the condition of things very unsatisfactory, this being especially true of the stock he left on the farm. Accordingly, he had Young arrested for cruelty to animals, charging that he had injured them. A suit followed, and Young won. Hogenkamp was ordered to pay the costs. This he did not care to do, so he repaired to the friendly care of the Empire State. But, becoming tired of this isolation, he returned last fall and surrendered himself to the sheriff of Wayne county, who gave him an opportunity to board out his bill of costs at the expense of the county. In the county jail. Here he passed the winter, paying his $100 at the rate of $1 a day and board. After his release he again visited the place of his former home, where he had an altercation with Young. The latter used a club for a weapon and left Hogenkamp much the worse for his part in the melee. Another suit is now on the docket. It is Commonwealth vs. Young, for assault and battery with intent to kill. It is just such men as these who keep the purses of the lawyers in a plethoric condition, but it is generally the taxpayers of the county who are compelled to bear the expenses of the majority of all such cases. It is cheaper for the county to pay it outright in the first place than to have the loser imprisoned to board out the costs in the case, and then have to pay it besides. There are some queer things connected with law and the ways of lawyers.

—A report reached Callicoon, Saturday night, that the body of little Clyde Mitchell, who was drowned March 10, had been recovered at Diagon's Ferry. Mr. Mitchell went down at once but could find no one who could give him any clue whatever. No one seemed to know anything of how the false report started and he was compelled to return to his home, bearing the thought of the great burden that is still tugging at his heart. It must be a heartless wretch who could start such a story into circulation. It is the opinion of many, who know the antics of the old Delaware, that the body will never be found. Even at this time it may be buried many feet beneath the sand.

"A FATTED CALF."

A Stupid Play and a Disappointed Audience.

A disappointed crowd left the Casino after the performance of the "Fatted Calf," Saturday evening. From the highly colored lithographs which adorned the bill boards about town, and the notices which the advance agent furnished the newspapers, the public was led to believe that a first class farce comedy, interspersed with specialties, singing and dancing would be given. The performance was just the reverse. A most improbable plot, uninteresting dialogue and about as poor acting as has been seen here this season wearied the audience for two hours, and a sigh of relief went up when the curtain finally fell.

A THRILLING ADVENTURE IN THE BIG HORN MOUNTAINS.

A Hunter Held Over a Bottomless Canyon by His Horse's Bridle Rein—The Mystery of Two Rifle Shots Explained—How Lee Cleared the Path.

During the fall of 1877, just after the expedition which had resulted in the running down and capturing of Chief Joseph and his band of warriors, my troop was detached to make a scout from Camp Brown down through the Rattlesnake range to the Platte river and from there to the Yellowstone by way of the Goose Creek trail.

When we camped on Clear creek, a comrade named Lee and I started off for a day's hunting among the high peaks of the Big Horn mountains, expecting to get a few sheep. Lee was a man of extraordinary strength and was noted in the regiment for his feats of muscular ability.

We ascended the mountain by a deer trail, Lee riding in advance. The trail led up a "hogback" until it ran out against the side of the mountain, when we had to pick our way over the side hill until we struck another trail winding in a zigzag manner toward the summit. We dismounted and led our horses, for the trail ran dangerously close to the edge of a cliff that formed one side of an immense canyon, whose depth we could only guess. Narrower and narrower grew the trail as we advanced until it seemed to terminate at a point only a short distance in front of us. We moved forward cautiously, for on one side the mountain appeared to rise from under our very feet into a wall of solid rock. On the other side we looked into the depths of the great canyon, which would prove an eternal grave to either of us should he lose his footing and topple into it.

The apparent termination of the trail was due to a curve at that point, to round which required steady nerves. We passed it safely, but had not gone 20 yards when both horses bent their ears forward, snorted and showed evidences of the greatest terror. Before I could ascertain the cause of it, being in rear of Lee's horse and unable to see beyond it, a shot was fired that awoke ten thousand echoes.

What followed the sound of the shot happened so quickly that I did not realize danger until I found myself hanging between life and death. My horse, unable to see what was in the path ahead of us, but whose instinct warned him of the presence of some dreaded wild beast, had stopped in terror, and when the shot was fired, suddenly threw up his head and began backing. I had pulled the reins over his head when I dismounted and held them in my right hand, to which fact I owed my escape from instant death. The rapid backward movement of the horse and the sudden tossing of his head threw me off my balance, and before I could recover I was falling over the cliff.

Instinctively I tightened my hold on the reins and endeavored to grasp the edge of the cliff with my left hand as I was rolling over. I did succeed in checking the shock of my fall somewhat, but could not secure a hold sufficient to sustain my weight. For a moment I hung suspended over the terrible abyss, my whole weight resting upon my right arm. Quick as a flash I grasped the reins with my left also, and there I hung, expecting death every instant, for I knew that my horse would not stand long in the position he then held. I could see him standing above me, and the beauty of his pose and the rigidity of his position, as he stood braced against the weight dangling at the end of his bridle rein, made an impression upon my memory that will never be eradicated.

I asked myself how much longer it was possible to hang by so frail a support as a bit of leather. The grip of my hands was so tight that my finger ends were tingling and burning as though touched with a hot iron.

Suddenly another shot rang out, awakening a myriad of echoes that seemed to mock me with shrill laughter. Again that backward movement of my horse, and as I felt the reins drag along the edge of the precipice I thought I must surely let go and fall. Strange thoughts began to flash through my brain, mental pictures of loved ones long since dead appeared to whisper prayers for me, there was singing in my ears, and I realized that my strength was giving out.

Just then I heard my name spoken. At first I thought it was but the voice of one of the visions my excited brain had conjured up. But no; there it sounded again. It was Lee's voice, calm, collected and inspiring. He was whispering words of caution.

Opening my eyes, I saw his face above me—what a white, scared face it was, I thought! Slowly, oh, so slowly, his hand stole down the reins until it rested upon my wrist. Then there was a quick grip of powerful fingers, an exertion of wonderful strength, and I was in safety. Lee told me afterward that I was unconscious when he stretched me out on the trail.

The first shot had been fired at a mountain lion that crouched in the trail a short distance ahead and had sent it crashing into the depths of the canyon. Hearing my cry of fear as I toppled over the brink of the cliff, he had shot his horse to clear a path to get back to where I was and had been in time to rescue me.—W. P. Coulter in San Francisco Argonaut.

Imported Politeness.

A man walking along a street in Rockland one of the cold days last week was surprised when a stranger stepped up to him, grabbed his shoulder with one hand, and with the other began to vigorously rub his nose with a handful of snow. Was he offended? On the contrary, he was profuse in his thanks as soon as he recovered his breath and his wits from the attack, for the assailant quickly explained that he was a native of Russia, and, noticing that the man's nose was freezing, had only attended to what was a matter of course and of etiquette in that country.—Lowiston Journal.

A Necessary Exception.

The Utica Herald is doing its best to hasten the spelling reform by omitting the letters "ough" from words ending with them, such as though, through, although, etc. It makes an exception, however, in the case of cough.—Chicago Tribune.

Bangor Girls.

You've heard of the Bangor girls! They are proverbial. Metaphorically speaking, every daughter of Eve in the Queen City wears a bloom of health, a pair of large, speaking orbs and two lovely peachblown cheeks. Whether this is due to the ozonic influence of the atmosphere or the unusual richness of the soil, certain it is that Venuses and Dianas and Mebes come marching up the street some days in a solid phalanx. There are girls upon girls, and they are all handsome.—Bridford Journal.

A DELIBERATE SUICIDE.

GEORGE COX, TIRED OF LIFE, SEEKS DEATH BY HANGING.

The Ghastly Discovery of a News Boy—A Hand Protruding from an Out-house—Believable Preparations—A Farwell Letter—Had Been Dead Nearly Twenty-four Hours When Found—The Rope Had Parted After Death Letting the Body Fall—Temporary Insanity Believed to Be the Cause of the Rash Act.

A clinched hand protruding from the partly opened door of a closet in rear of the premises No. 24 Spring street was the ghastly discovery made by Frank Veber, a newspaper carrier, about 5 o'clock, Saturday evening.

A glance through the opening revealed the prostrate form of a man and the lad, frightened out of his wits, ran to Spring street and told W. H. Crist, the first person he met what he had seen. Mr. Crist went to the closet and pushing open the door saw the dead body of George Cox, a carpenter, who resided at 74 Academy avenue, nearly opposite the Spring street property. A cord about the neck, with a broken end dangling from the roof showed the manner of his death.

Mr. Crist hastened up town and notified Coroner Decker, who had just concluded the inquest on the body of Charles Goble.

Arriving on the scene a jury was impaneled and the body removed from the building. It was apparent that the man had been dead some time. The body was cold and stiff, the limbs being partly drawn up. It was found lying on the right side, the head resting against the side of the building and the back against the seat. A strong twine, on which a slip noose had been made, encircled the neck and was almost buried in a crease in the flesh, but the skin was not broken. To prevent the cutting of the skin in front Mr. Cox had folded a piece of paper and placed it between the string and flesh.

The suicide had fastened a hammock hook to the roof of the building with two stout nails and doubtless had stood on the seat until all his preparations were completed and then stepped off and suffered death by strangulation. The string had parted near the middle, allowing the body to fall, but this must have happened after his death.

On one side of the building near the roof Mr. Cox's hat was found nailed to the wall, the nail passing through a sheet of letter paper which had been folded. His collar and spectacles were also in the hat. Several tools, such as chisels, screw drivers, etc., were found on the seat. The paper found in the hat proved to be a note. It was neither addressed nor signed but in three places on the outside were these words: "Look at this."

In this note, which for good reasons will not be published, he said he was going to his long home and bade good-by to all. He said it made no difference where he should be buried, but asked that it be done as cheaply as possible.

Mr. Cox's sons, W. H. and Virgil, had just returned home from the inquest in the case of Chas. Goble, when they were told of their father's death. It will be remembered that these gentlemen have charge of the inclined railway at the Park on which Mr. Goble was killed, and Mr. Virgil Cox was the one who operated the motor when the accident happened. Both of the brothers felt very badly about the accident, and when the news of their father's suicide followed so quickly, the shock was terrible.

The property on Spring street where the suicide occurred belongs to the sons of the deceased. It is unoccupied at present and this accounts for the fact that the body was not discovered sooner and was probably Mr. Cox's reason for selecting it as the place to end his life.

There is every reason to believe the suicide was committed Friday evening. Mr. Cox left home Friday morning taking some tools with him, but did not say where he was going. When he did not return at night his family supposed he had gone to Summitville to visit a friend who had invited him to come to see him. Saturday afternoon, however, his sons learned that he had worked on Friday for Chas. Bellinger at Mechanic town.

Ex-Police Captain Gould, who resides on Washington street, says Cox passed his house and spoke to him Friday evening. He was then going in the direction of his son's shop, which is but a short distance from where the body was found. It is believed he went to the shop and wrote the note bidding farewell to his family, and secured the hammock hook, nails and cord, and, after dark, proceeded to the closet and carried out his plan. A young man named Coburg, who passed through the street that evening, says he heard hammering in the direction of the closet.

Yesterday morning Lewis Turner brought to police headquarters two bottles, each about one third full of laudanum, which he said he found in the closet among some papers. One of the bottles bore the label of McMonagle & Rogers, and the other that of G. H. Lathrop, of Livingston Manor. This gave rise to a theory that Mr. Cox might have taken laudanum previous to hanging himself.

But this is hardly probable. He would not likely have provided himself with two bottles of the poison; besides, the corks are old, and it is likely the bottles were thrown there by former occupants of the premises.

Mr. Cox was a son of George W. Cox, and was born at Salisbury Mills. He was in his sixty-third year. He removed to Sussex county, N. J., when a young man, and learned the carpenter's trade with Jacob Wainwright, of Wantage. He lived in the West a short time, then returned to the Clove, and later lived at Coleville. He lived in Port Jervis a short time, and came to this city in 1880.

He was twice married, his first wife being Mary Mead, who died 26 years ago. Three sons and one daughter were born to them. They are W. H. Virgil and Frank, of this city, and Carrie, wife of John W. Dreher, of Hornellsville. His second wife, who with one son, Chas. W., survives him, was Julia Williams of Branchville.

In 1875, while at Coleville, Mr. Cox lost his property and has worried over it more or less ever since. He was despondent and acted strangely at times, which gives rise to the belief that his mind was affected by his loss and that he was insane when he took his life.

Much sympathy is felt for the family and especially for the sons, Virgil and W. H., who though not responsible for the accident at Midway Park, were naturally worried about it when this new trouble came upon them.

The funeral of Mr. Cox took place at his late residence at 3:30 o'clock last evening. This morning the body was taken to Coleville, N. J., for burial by Undertaker Rockafellow. At Dockertown the funeral party was met by the Masonic Lodge of that place, of which the deceased was a member for many years.

The inquest will be held at 4:30 this afternoon.

SHOT HIMSELF THROUGH THE HEART

Isaac LaForge, Suffering from Physical and Mental Troubles, Kills Himself.

Isaac LaForge, aged seventy-four years, committed suicide, on Friday last, by shooting himself through the heart with a shot gun at his home near Ulsterville, about five miles from Pine Bush.

Mr. LaForge had been a sufferer from stomach difficulties for about a year and for some time past has given evidence of mental trouble. On Friday his sons had been hunting and on their return extracted the load from the muzzle-loading shot gun. Mr. LaForge loaded it again, putting in a heavy charge. He asked for a cap, but it was refused and he went to bed, placing the gun in a corner nearby.

Shortly afterwards he requested his daughter to get him a glass of water, and when she left the room he picked up the gun, and having by some means procured a percussion cap, placed it on the gun. He placed the muzzle next to his body, and, with his toe, pulled the trigger, receiving the contents of the weapon in his heart, dying instantly.

The funeral was held yesterday, from the Crawford church.

A CHURCH ANNIVERSARY.

BEGINNING OF AN INTERESTING CELEBRATION AT GOSHEN.

The First Presbyterian Church Organized One Hundred and Seventy-Five Years Ago—Interesting Services Attended by Great Throngs, Yesterday—Sermon by Rev. B. B. Clark—History of the Church—The Pastors Who Have Served It.

From Our Goshen Correspondent.

The five days' service commemorating the 175th anniversary of the First Presbyterian Church in Goshen, opened at 11 o'clock, yesterday morning, under the most auspicious circumstances. The people of Goshen and vicinity have been anticipating the event for the past three months, and yesterday morning a large congregation gathered in the church to enjoy the initiatory service of the series.

The exercises opened with an organ prelude, the "Pastoral Symphony," from the Messiah, followed by a hymn by the choir. A prayer was offered by Rev. B. B. Clark and then the choir sang "Blessing, Honor, Glory and Power," with tenor solo by Mr. O. J. J. Werley, of Middletown. After an alto solo by Miss M. M. Leverich, of New York, Rev. Mr. Clark read letters of regret from a score of prominent persons, including Gov. Levi P. Morton, Rev. T. Dewitt Talmadge and Mr. Moody, the evangelist, all of whom were unable to be present owing to previous engagements. The letters were replete with expressions of profound interest for the success of the anniversary exercises and of the continued prosperity of the church organization so long existing.

Mr. Clark then began the delivery of the anniversary sermon, taking his text from the 145th Psalm.

He spoke of the transient nature of men and their work, and the abiding character of God. The Almighty never left himself without a witness in any period, however nearly eclipsed it was by the unbelief and wickedness of the world, illustrating by Biblical periods, and the course of history since the advent. Speaking of the Goshen Church he said it was founded one hundred years after the Pilgrim fathers landed on Plymouth Rock; more than half a century before the founding of this American government. The progress of mechanical, agricultural and commercial affairs, during the 175 years of the church's life was then depicted, and afterward it was declared as astonishing as other progress was, that the progress of Christianity was even greater in that time. Some humorous incidents of the past history of the church were related and then, in closing, the speaker contrasted the strong country church with the large city churches, indicating that there was more permanency and consecutiveness in the rural churches. The relation of the church to this environment was then referred to and the responsibility of the organization in the primitive period and at the present time was dwelt upon. A fervent exhortation to be faithful in the great responsibilities of the present day closed the address.

After the choir sang, "And the Glory of the Lord, from the Messiah, the congregation was dismissed with the benediction.

AFTERNOON SERVICE.

At 3 o'clock a service was held by a union assembly of the Sunday School, Christian Endeavor Societies and Boys' Brigade. The speakers were James C. Coleman, Jr., of the Princeton Theological Seminary, and William B. Tutill, of the Union Theological Seminary, both of New York. Both the young men were born and reared in Goshen, and are preparing themselves for the ministry. Captain E. N. K. Talcott also gave an interesting talk to the members of the several societies present. The services throughout were interesting and instructive.

EVENING SERVICE.

While the morning and afternoon services were both well attended the largest congregation assembled, last night. There were at least 1,200 people present, a large number coming from Middletown and other places in the county.

After the organ prelude, the singing of a hymn, and the repeating of the Lord's Prayer, the choir, which numbered 50 voices including about 15 from Middletown, sang "Let us Break their Bonds Asunder," from the Messiah. This was followed by Rev. Mr. Clark reading the Beatitudes and Creed. Mrs. Swezy, of Middletown, and Miss Leverich then sang in an elegant manner, "Hark, Hark, my Soul." Following is the programme given during the remainder of the evening:

Organ Prelude—The Triumphal March—Nathan W. Widditt, organist, H. Kocherbach, cornet.
The service was one of the grandest ever held in the church.
At the services to-night addresses will be made by Rev. B. B. Clark, D. D., of the Methodist Church; Rev. A. H. Bradford, D. D., of the Congregational Church, and Rev. B. Tyler, D. D., of the Disciples of Christ. The musical programme will be as follows:
Organ Prelude—Schumann's Quartette.
Ava Maria—Schumann's Quartette.
Chorus—We Drive Them from the City—Moses Tenor Solo—The Holy City—Adams.
Organ Postlude—Concertante—Thiele.

HISTORY OF THE CHURCH.

The history of the church dates back to the year 1720, when a few of our colonial ancestors united themselves into a body of worshippers according to the Presbyterian faith. An itinerant clergyman named Treat came to Goshen occasionally and preached for the young church. In 1721 the Rev. John Bradner was installed as the first regular pastor. He continued his pastoral duties with the congregation until 1732, when he died. During his ministry the first church edifice, a plain wooden structure, was built on the site of the present court house. This building was used from 1724 to 1813. In 1810 was commenced the erection of another and larger church, which was used up to 1871, when the present spacious and substantial structure was dedicated. This second church was dedicated in 1813 and Rev. Ezra Fish, D. D., installed as its pastor. The building cost $14,500, which in those days was considered a large sum to expend for church property.

At a meeting of the trustees held in 1866 it was concluded to build a new church edifice. The plans were formulated and two years later the contract for the work was given to W. A. Wilkinson for $32,500. Ground was broken on Sept. 7th, 1868 and on the 11th of May, 1869, the corner stone was laid with appropriate ceremonies.

In July following, after having spent about $17,500, the contractor abandoned the work, and a month later Mr. Peter Terhune, of Binghamton, took the contract to complete the church for $88,000, making the total cost at $105,000. But the modification of specifications, during its construction, made the cost amount to upwards of $120,000. With the improvements that have since been made, the furnishings, etc., the total cost of the structure was about $160,000.

The church was built during the pastorate of Rev. Dr. Snodgrass. It was dedicated on Wednesday, Nov. 22, 1871, sermons being delivered by Rev. Stephen H. Tyng, D. D., of St. George's Episcopal Church, New York; Rev. Dr. Rogers, of the Reformed Church, of New York, and Rev. Dr. Snodgrass.

The edifice is built of rough cut blue limestone, quarried at Orange Farm, and laid in courses of massive blocks from foundation to capstone. The ornamental work is dressed Syracuse stone.

A spire of solid stone rises from one front corner of the church to a height of 186 feet from the ground, and this is supplemented by a campanile tower 70 feet high at the other front corner, through which is the entrance to the chapel. The building has an extreme frontage of 114 feet; depth 105 feet; width 62 feet; height of main gable 65 feet; area of chapel 46x30; height of gable 34 feet. There are 197 pews in the main building, with a seating capacity of about 1,300.

The church is now free and clear of all indebtedness. It has a membership of 537.
Rev. William D. Snodgrass, D. D., was the pastor from 1849 to 1885. In December of the latter year a unanimous call was voted the Rev. Robert Bruce Clark, of Chicago, Ill., and he was installed pastor of the church on the evening of February 5th, 1886, and remained in that capacity up to the present time, ably performing his pastoral duties, beloved and revered by his congregation and the whole community.

Since the installation of the first preacher in 1721, the church has had but ten pastors, as follows, the term of service of each being given:
Rev. John Bradner—1721-1732.
Rev. Silas Leonard—1734-1758.
Rev. Abner Bush—1758-1768.
Rev. Nathan Kerr—1768-1804.
Rev. Isaac Lewis—1805-1812.
Rev. Ezra Fisk, D. D.—1812-1833.
Rev. James R. Johnson—1835-1839.
Rev. Robert McCarter, D. D.—1840-1849.
Rev. Robert B. Clark—1885.

THE ACCIDENT TO CHAS. COBLE.

An Inquest Held—Verdict of the Coroner's Jury.

The Coroner's inquest in the case of Charles F. Coble, who was killed at Midway Park, Friday afternoon, was held Saturday.

Dr. T. D. Mills, who made a post mortem examination of the body, testified as to the nature of the injuries which caused death. He said the breast bone was crushed in, the lungs lacerated, the spinal column so severely fractured that the spinal cord was crushed, which doubtless caused instant death. There was an abrasion of the skin on the breast and also on the back of the neck.

The only other witness examined was Mr. Virgil Cox, who described the accident as published Saturday. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental death and that when the accident occurred the deceased was in a position not required by his duties.

General Manager Childs, of the Ontario and Western, confirms the report that that company has purchased properties in Toronto, Can., with a view of handling all the coal which is shipped over its line on Canadian account itself. This deal enables the company to transport direct from its mines near Scranton to Toronto by rail and water. Heretofore the greater portion of the coal shipped over the road has been transferred to the West Shore, from Oswego, and thence to Canada ports by way of Niagara Falls.

Reuben F. Quinlan, the agent in Port Jervis of the White Plains "jag" cure establishment, was arrested a week ago for defrauding his landlady, whom he owed $70 for board for himself and a young woman whom he represented as his wife.

A Port Jervis business man became his bondsman, but on Friday night he left town. His bondsman finally compromised the matter for $25. It is said Quinlan has a wife and children in Newburgh. He belongs to a well known Monticello family.

BICYCLISTS AND THE POLICE.

A Number of Wheelmen Warned Not to Again Disregard the Lamp Ordinance.

A number of bicyclists, who did not return from runs into the country until after dark, last night, and who entered the city without lights, were stopped by the police and warned that excuses would not be accepted for another violation of the ordinance. In most cases the interference of the police was accepted good naturedly, but a few of the wheelmen resented it and talked back in a way that makes it certain that no consideration will be shown them if they are again found riding after dark without lighted lamps on their wheels.

Ontario and Western "Summer Homes."

The Ontario and Western has issued its "Summer Homes" book for the season of '95. It is full of interesting matter for those seeking homes for the summer, and contains very graphic descriptions of the many attractive resorts on the line of the road in Orange, Ulster and Sullivan counties. The list of summer hotels and boarding houses is longer than ever before. A very large edition has been printed.

The work will be supplemented by another containing illustrations of hotels and boarding houses, and called "Illustrated Homes."

No Inquest Necessary.

Coroner Decker was called to Turners, yesterday, to investigate the death of the fifteen-months-old child of Nelson Thorpe. It was ascertained that the cause of death was pneumonia and a certificate to that effect was granted. No inquest was held.
